"More than the degree modules themselves, it was what the lecturers brought from their past, real-world experiences to the programme that captivated and inspired me most. All had previously worked in the TV or film industry and brought a unique, hands-on insight into that world.

I loved the small class sizes, and personal attention - always feeling supported and motivated. The whole experience pushed me and encouraged me to work hard, to achieve - to be the best I could be. Since graduated I've had the privilege to work with the teams at MGM Studios on 'Boys in the Boat' - an upcoming American drama film directed by and starring George Clooney, Marvel's Ant-Man and The Wasp, and the 'Three-Body Problem' Netflix series."

“When I came to Lancaster, I did not know anyone, but I quickly settled into student and academic life. I am now an International Student Ambassador offering advice and guidance to new students which I really enjoy.

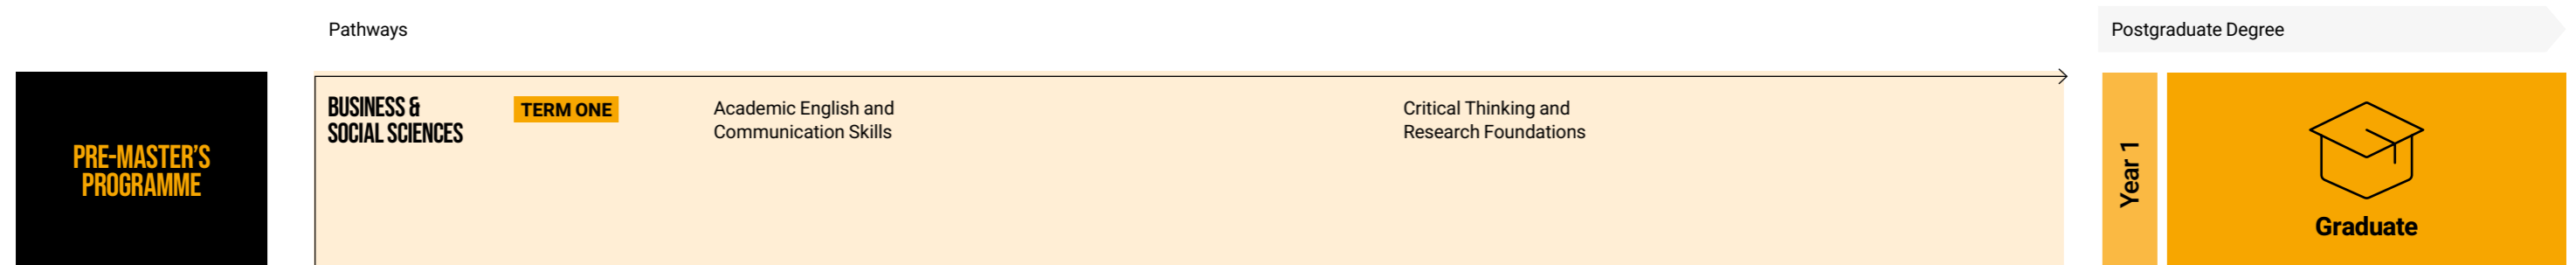

If I had to pick one thing that stands out from the course; it would be the ‘Sustainability Issues in Business’ module – a real highlight for me. This module gave me a very great perspective and has encouraged me to involve sustainability in everything that I do, and everything I will do in the future when I return home to Nigeria – that is a very big driver for me.

In my spare time, I like walking along the seafront and taking walks around Lancaster. I go to Marketgate and enjoy shopping in the city centre. I also visit the local African market in Lancaster and worship at a local church where my family has found many new Nigerian friends and a supportive, caring community network.”
